In the event of publication of a supplement to the Prospectus as provided by the Prospectus Regulation, Investors who have already agreed to subscribe for the Notes before the supplement is published shall have the right, exercisable within a time limit indicated in the supplement, to withdraw their applications by a written notice to the Distributor who has received such application. In the event that the Notes are not allotted or only partially allotted, the total amount paid as a temporary deposit, or any difference with the counter-value of the Notes allotted, will be repaid to the applicant without interest by the Issue Date.

Each Distributor is responsible for the notification of any withdrawal right applicable in relation to the offer of the Notes to potential Investors.

By subscribing for the Notes, the holders of the Notes are deemed to have knowledge of all the terms and conditions of the Notes and to accept the said terms and conditions of the Notes.

The Credit Support Agreements do not constitute a direct or indirect guarantee by TMC or TFS of the Notes. TFS agrees in its Credit Support Agreement with the Issuer to make available to the Issuer funds sufficient to make its payment obligations on securities issued by it and agrees to ensure that the Issuer always has at least U.S.$100,000 in consolidated tangible net worth, so long as the Issuer has securities outstanding.

Material risk factors pertaining to the credit support providers contained in the prospectus

TFS is a holding company and is completely dependent on the performance of its financial services subsidiaries, including each of the Issuers. As a holding company, TFS does not engage in, or conduct, any operating business itself. Its principal assets are the shares in its 58 consolidated subsidiaries and eight affiliates. Consequently, TFS is dependent on the economic, financial and operating results of its financial services subsidiaries and affiliates and is therefore indirectly exposed to the same risks as those faced by its financial services subsidiaries and affiliates, including each of the Issuers. Any deterioration in the business, financial condition or results of operations of the financial services subsidiaries and affiliates of TFS or their ability or willingness to pay dividends to TFS would also materially adversely affect financial condition or results of operations of TFS.

TMC has identified in the Prospectus a number of factors which could adversely affect Toyota's financial condition and results of operations. These factors include, among others:

- The worldwide automotive market is highly competitive. Toyota faces intense competition from automotive manufacturers in the markets in which it operates. Competition in the automotive industry has further intensified amidst difficult overall market conditions. In addition, competition is likely to further intensify in light of further continuing globalisation in the worldwide automotive industry, possibly resulting in industry reorganisations. Factors affecting competition include product quality and features, safety, reliability, fuel economy, the amount of time required for innovation and development, pricing, customer service and financing terms. Increased competition may lead to lower vehicle unit sales, which may result in further downward price pressure and adversely affect Toyota's financial condition and results of operations. Toyota's ability to adequately respond to the recent rapid changes in the automotive market and to maintain its competitiveness will be fundamental to its future success in existing and new markets and to maintain its market share. There can be no assurances that Toyota will be able to compete successfully in the future.
- Toyota is sensitive to fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates and is principally exposed to fluctuations in the value of the Japanese yen, the U.S. dollar and the euro and, to a lesser extent, the Australian dollar, the Russian ruble, the Canadian dollar and the British pound. Toyota's consolidated financial statements, which are presented in Japanese yen, are affected by foreign currency exchange fluctuations through translation risk, and changes in foreign currency exchange rates may also affect the price of products sold and materials purchased by Toyota in foreign currencies through transaction risk. In particular, strengthening of the Japanese yen against the U.S. dollar can have an adverse effect on Toyota's operating results.
- The worldwide automotive industry is subject to various laws and governmental regulations including those related to vehicle safety and environmental matters such as emission levels, fuel economy, noise and pollution. In particular, automotive manufacturers such as Toyota are required to implement safety measures such as recalls for vehicles that do not or may not comply with the safety standards of laws and governmental regulations. In addition, Toyota may, in order to reassure its customers of the safety of Toyota's vehicles, decide to voluntarily implement recalls or other safety measures even if the vehicle complies with the safety standards of relevant laws and governmental regulations. If Toyota launches products that result in safety measures such as recalls, Toyota may incur various costs including significant costs for free repairs. Many governments also impose tariffs and other trade barriers, taxes and levies, or enact price or exchange controls.

What are the key risks that are specific to the securities?

There are also risks associated with the Notes including a range of risks relating to the structure of the Notes, market risks and risks relating to Notes generally including that:

- an active secondary market in respect of the Notes may never be established or may be illiquid and this would adversely affect the value at which Notes could be sold, and the secondary market value and/or the real value of the Notes over time may be affected by fluctuations in market interest rates and the effects of inflation. The secondary market prices of the Notes are likely to exclude commissions payable by the Issuer to the Lead Manager or to the Distributors that are included in the issue price of the Notes and the early closure of the offer period may adversely affect the liquidity of the Notes;
- any credit rating assigned to the Issuer and/or the Notes may not adequately reflect all the risks associated with an investment in the Notes;
- Registered Notes in global form held under the new safekeeping structure may not satisfy Eurosystem eligibility criteria;
- the Terms and Conditions of the Notes contain provisions which permit their modification without the consent of all investors in certain circumstances;
- changes in law or regulation affecting the value of their Notes or the holder of Notes may not receive payment of the full amounts due in respect of the Notes as a result of amounts being withheld by the Issuer in order to comply with applicable law; and
- the value of an investor's investment may be adversely affected by exchange rate movements where the Notes are not denominated in the investor's own currency.

There is no limit to the number of Acceptance Forms which may be filled in and delivered by the same prospective investor with the same or different Distributor, without prejudice to the circumstance that for the purposes of the allotment each applicant will be considered individually, independently of the number of Acceptance Forms delivered.

Without prejudice to the provisions applicable in case of publication of supplements under Article 23 of the Prospectus Regulation from time to time, and to those applicable to the placement of the Notes, through door-to-door selling all as specified in paragraph 9 of these Final Terms, the subscription application can be revoked by the potential investors through a specific request made at the offices of the Distributor which has received the relevant Acceptance Form within the last day of the Offer Period (being 17 October 2019), as amended in the event of an early closure of the Offer Period.

Within such period investors may notify the relevant Distributor and/or financial advisor of their withdrawal without payment of any charge or commission.

In the event of publication of a supplement to the Prospectus as provided by the Prospectus Regulation, investors who have already agreed to subscribe for the Notes before the supplement is published shall have the right, exercisable within a time limit indicated in the supplement, to withdraw their applications by a written notice to the Distributor who has received such application. The final date of the right of withdrawal will be stated in the relevant supplement.

Applicants having no client relationship with the Distributor with whom the Acceptance Form is filed may be required to open a current account or to make a temporary non-interest bearing deposit of an amount equal to the counter-value of the Notes requested, calculated on the basis of the Offer Price of the Notes. In the event that the Notes are not allotted or only partially allotted, the total amount paid as a temporary deposit, or any difference with the counter-value of the Notes allotted, will be repaid to the applicant without interest by the Issue Date.

Each Distributor is responsible for the notification of any withdrawal right applicable in relation to the offer of the Notes to potential investors. By subscribing for the Notes, the holders of the Notes are deemed to have knowledge of all the terms and conditions of the Notes and to accept the said terms and conditions of the Notes.

Applications received by the Distributors prior to the start of the Offer Period or after the closing date of the Offer Period, will be considered as not having been received and will be void.
